

Meet The CEO

I am a healthcare operations executive with over 30 years of experience, dedicated to maintaining the highest standards in direct healthcare and healthcare operations across various sectors, including rural healthcare, primary care, dental services, specialty care, laboratories, and home healthcare. Throughout my career, I have traveled extensively across the United States, performing comprehensive evaluations of hospitals and physician practices, with a particular focus on revenue cycle management and workflow operations to ensure their long-term sustainability.

I am a certified trainer through Johns Hopkins University for Dementia and possess numerous additional certifications. Furthermore, I own and operate over six healthcare-related corporations. My unwavering commitment to integrity has consistently guided my efforts to ensure access to healthcare services and resources, thereby facilitating continuity of care for all clients.
